Thesis title:

The Global Speech in the Qur'anic Text (A Study in the Functions of the Theory of Functional Grammar)

Abstract:

The study of the thesis is based on modern linguistic studies, which are the basis of natural languages as a link between the activity of the language and the social activity of the language, and thus (the search) on three pillars linked to each other, as they do not dispense with each other, namely: Qur'anic discourse, its universality, and the deliberative functions of the theory as a functional form.
